To Judith.

" Oh! knowest thou, dearest, the love of youth,
With its wayward fancies, its untried truth,
All clovered and warm as the sunny day
That opens the flowers of a summer day,
Unfolding the passionate thoughts that lie
Beneath feelings pure as an angel's sigh,
Till the loftiest strength of our nature wakes,
And the soul from the slumber of childhood breaks;
Oh! knowest thou, dear, what such love may be?
Since my earlier days, such was mine for thee."

"My dearest friend! thou wishest me
With other true hearts here,
A friendly thought to pen to thee,
Affection's hope sincere.

I wish my pen could half express,
The thoughts that crowd my brain,
The wishes for thy happiness.

Unmixed with thought of pain,
No even blessing could thee gladden,
Which of Heaven's richness can bestow".
